CATHOLIC BENEFICIAL SOCIETY. - A regular weekly meeting of the Alexandria Catholic Beneficial Society was held at St. Mary's Hall last night, the president R. M. Latham in the chair, and Francis Lovejoy secretary.

Several new members were elected, and four applications for membership were received and referred to the committee on applications.

The committee appointed for the purpose, through their chairman, M. B. Harlow, reported the following preamble and resolutions, which being seconded by Mr. William Kilgour, who briefly and feelingly alluded to the virtue, learning and piety of the deceased prelate, were unanimously adopted, Messrs. Edward Hughes, M. H. Nash and others having delivered short and appropriate addresses upon the character of the late Bishop:

WHEREAS, by the death, at an advanced age, and in the odor of sanctity, of Most Rev. John McGill, Bishop of the Diocese of Richmond, we, the Catholics of the Alexandria Catholic Beneficial Society of Alexandria, Virginia, constitut-ing a portion of his spiritual children, have been deprived of the wise counsel, tenden affection and watchful solicitude of a highly venerated and dearly beloved Father in Christ. And whereas, in view of these cherished relations, we should give some expression to the mingled sentiments of profound reverence, sincere love and deep sorrow that fill our hearts on this mournful occasion: therefore, Resolved, That as by the beauty, the simplicity and sweetness of his character in life, our anniable Bishop won the respect and admiration of ail-Catholic and Protestant alike-who came within the sphere of his genial presence or un-der the influence of his saintly teachings, so by the heroic courage, the unruffled calmness, and the perfect resignation that marked the entire period of his protracted illness and signalized his edifying death, he illustrated the holiness, the grandeur, the sublimity of that Divine faith whose consecrated emblem is the cross-that cross which he fondly clasped in his dying hand and which was the last object on earth upon which his loving eyes were intensely fixed.

Resolved, That in the demise of this learned prelate the Catholic Church has lost an able de-fender, the American Republic a patriotic citizen, the Diocese of Richmond a watchful guardian, education a generous patron, and charity a munificent benefactor, while the widow and the orphan, the homeless and the destitute, the sorrowful and the afflicted will indeed miss a warm hearted sympathizer and liberal friend, whose brightest smiles, and kindest words and noble benefactions were always graciously bestowed upon the lowly and the suffering.

Resolved, That while the splendid and enduring monuments of Bishop McGill's zealous labor in the cause of religion during a ministry of thirty-four years, and for the last twenty years as Bishop of this Diocese, the literary and scientific works he gave to the world attest his earnest devotion to the ancient faith, and will transmit his revered name to a grateful posterity; he will earn occurry a conspicuous place in the hiswill ever occupy a conspicuous place in the history of the Church for his earnest devotion to our Holy Father, Pius IX.

Resolved, That as a tribute of respect to our deceased Bishop the foregoing resolutions be spread on the minutes of this Society, and a copy signed by the President and attested by the Secretary be transmitted to the Rev. James Gib-bons, administrator of the Diocese of Richmond, a Vicar Apostle of North Carolina.

YESTERDAY.-The weather yesterday was delightful, warm and bright, and though the sidewalks were muddy and sloppy, many persons were on the streets, and large congregations were present at the different churches. The following is the report of the work done during the day by the Young Men's Christian Association: The alms house services were not so well attended by the people of the neighborhood, owing to the state of the roads, but the exercises were very interesting, and a full corps of workers were on hand. At the jail the committee give a glowing account of the work performed there; four of the prisoners requesting special prayer for themselves. The Sunday prayer meeting in the Baptist Church was very fully attended, the exercises were conducted with more than usual spirit. Special prayer was asked and made for the unconverted present." This meeting will be held next Sunday in the M. E. Church, South. Bishop Johns preached in the morning at St. Paul's Church.

St. Mary's Church, YESTERDAY .- At the the 7½ o'clock services yesterday, the Rev. Mr. Kroes took up a collection for the poor, himself, passing up and down the aisles with a plate. Previous to leaving the chamcel, he remarked that there were many people who always give cents at such collections, and that he didn't want any one to put a cent into the plate; if they could give no more, they were too poor themselves to assist others. At 11 o'clock after announcing the death of Archbishop Spalding and the time appointed for his funeral, the hours for services on Ash Wednesday, and the regulations for Lent, he alluded to the fact that a large number of persons in the congregation who educated their children at public schools, where, of course, no religious instruction was given them, neglected to send them to Sunday School. He expressed the hope that all such carefully provided for the religious instruction of their children at home, and said that if they neglected that duty, they need not hope for salvation. He then very briefly stated the wants of the poor, and read a portion of the Epistle of St. Paul to the Corinthians which occurred in the Mass of the day: "If I speak with the tongues of angels and of men, and have not charity &c." after which he descended from the altar, and went round the Church, vested in his robes, collect-ting as before. At Vespers, the Sunday School children occupied almost the entire central range of pews, and he addressed them and their teachers in a very appropriate manner. Each boy and girl was then called up by the Superintendent of the male school, and received a book, a rosary or premium card, according to his or her deserts. A beautiful gold medal in the shape of a Latin cross was awarded to Mary Eva Hicheu, as the best little girl. This medal is to be awarded annually, funds to perpetuate it having been given by a gentleman of the congregation in memory of his little daughter, and is called "The Mary Esther Memorial."

Foreign News. LONDON, Feb. 11 .-- The English government is earnestly anxious to avoid a misunderstanding with the authorities at Washington; not to render the treaty a nullity and not to yield a point which the public mind regards as involving the National honor. The possibility of a compromise is contemplated and even hoped for at an early day, when the excitement is less than at present and when the spirit of mutual conciliation will reconcile the points that in the present time of violent discussion appear irreconciliable. The point of least resistance in the English position is the phrase "indirect losses." The English people are not ferocious as to that phrase and might not object to continue the arbitration with that phrase retained in the treaty if it were guaranteed that the award under that head in any case would not exceed a certain figure. They would thus yield the principle of indirect losses and meet the views of the American people and the requirements of the American interpretation of the treaty; but in exchange they would get a certainly known limit and thus deprive the claims of the alarming character which their indefinite nature now presents to practical minds. Should this idea reach a stage of negotiation it may result in an arrangement to continue three arbitrations proceeding satisfactorily at Berlin, Washington and Canada, and if there were no differences and to continue also the Geneva arbitration with the understanding as to the amount that will satisfy both sides under the head of indirect losses. This understanding might be put in the form of an additional rule or instruction to the tribunal, or of a supplementary secret article. Minister Schenck has communicated a note to the English government on the recent language of Gladstone. which was deemed an imputation on the good faith of the United States. The note is regarded as a proper assertion of the dignity of his government, and will, it is likely, be answered in a more friendly spirit, deprecating any diplomatic application of the words used in the heat of debate.

TO ALL THE YEAR ROUND, and in all parts of the world, the elements of disease are present in the air, the soil and the water, in a greater or less degree, and therefore the Great Vegetable Antidote to these invisible enemies of nealth, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is invaluable as a household medicine at all seasons and in every latitude. At no period of the year is a regulating and corrective medicine more needed than toward the close of winter, when the sun and rain are beginning to break up the winter blockade, and from the softening soil arises that terrible miasma, which weighs like an incubus upon the vital machinery, and depresses the animal spirits.
